2007 SEASON PREVIEW

Consistency will be the goal for the Drury University volleyball Panthers in the 2007 season as they seek to end the pesky losing streaks that contributed to a 13-16 finish last fall.

Coach Amy Gardner's squad opened the season with six wins in their first nine matches, but then fell into an eight-match losing streak, including an 0-3 start in Great Lakes Valley Conference play en route to a final 6-10 mark and ninth place in the GLVC. But the Panthers showed promise and resiliency by winning six straight matches after that, a late-season flurry they'll build upon confidence-wise for the '07 campaign.

Drury must replace four key seniors lost to graduation, including second team All-GLVC defensive specialist Maggie Thompson, but also returns several key performers, led by senior outsider hitter Courtney Hendrickson. Also a second team All-GLVC pick,

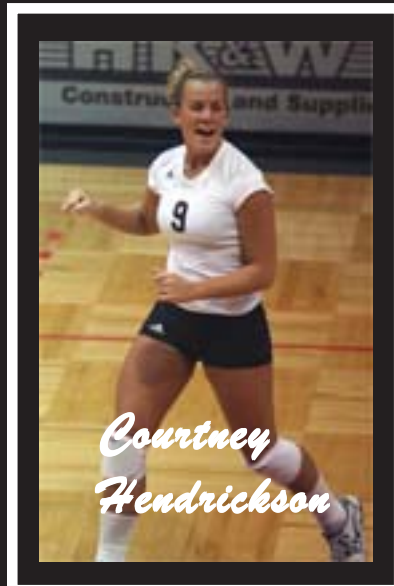

In her first season at DU after transferring from Missouri State-West Plains, Hendrickson led the Panthers with 484 kills – averaging 4.25 per game, second in the GLVC - and was second with 404 digs last season in addition to averaging 4.85 points per game (third in the league). She heads a returning class of five seniors that also includes middle-hitter Jessica Burns (third with 277 kills last season), outside hitter/middle hitter Ashley Riessen, setter/outside hitter Kailey Mock (second with 290 assists) and setter Tiffany Schneider.

Also returning for the Panthers are junior outside hitter Devin Buehler, sophomore middle hitter/outside hitters Krystal Glessner and Brianne Holtkamp and sophomore outside hitter Megan Warhol, an All-GLVC honorable mention choice as a freshman (366 kills) before missing last season due to injury.

The Panthers will also welcome four freshmen to the program in setter Austin Warren, defensive specialist Brittany Cataldi, middle hitter Kyrie Hopkins and outside hitter Kayla Hellebusch.
